

A Day with Celia Lashlie...

Rebuild your inner reserves and refill your professional 'soul' while Celia Lashlie builds a conversation around the issues that underlie New Zealand's negative social statistics.

The day-long seminar is specifically for those working 'at the coalface' as professionals or volunteers. It will allow time for reflection and reconnection with what you know and provide vital reinforcement for the work you do.

This is an opportunity to spend valuable time with the author and social commentator whose insights will nourish you, along with the good food and peaceful surroundings.

The event is facilitated by award-winning journalist & interviewer, Amanda Millar.
