

invites teachers and professionals to an afternoon with

Lynn Berresford

Square Pegs

Exploring:

- the importance of the identification of our gifted learners
- the need to understand psychometric assessments
- learning differences; in particular the co-morbidities of specific learning difficulties and social, emotional and behavioural issues
- a focus on how teachers can address some of these resulting problems.

Thursday August 9th 2012

4 – 6pm Afternoon tea from 3.30pm

@ Kavanagh College Staff Room, Rattray Street, Dunedin

COST: non-OAGC members $30/OAGC members $20

Register or become an OAGC member online at: www.otagogifted.org.nz or call Sarah 456 3522 for more details

Lynn Berresford, M.Ed (Hons), Dip Teaching (Distinction), Registered Psychologist with over 30 years of experience of working with children, teenagers and adults with exceptional needs. Lynn has developed extensive and practical knowledge of these individuals who learn differently.

Lynn is a dedicated, experienced and skilled advocate for individuals who have behaviours reflecting Giftedness, Dyslexia, Attention Deficits, Dyspraxia, Aspergers etc.

Lynn has worked in both clinical and educational settings.